

Yakṣagaṇas—chiefly four, Loheyas, Bharateyas, Kṛśāṇgeyas, and Viśāleyas after the four daughters of Suyāśā (s.v.).

Vā. 69. 15-6.

Yakṣarākṣasas—the tribe born to Kapila, the Yakṣa and Keśinī—inferior to Gandharvas by three steps.

Br. III. 7. 146-167; IV. 4. 2; Vā. 69. 178.

Yakṣāsya—a Vānara chief.

Br. III. 7. 235.

Yakṣis—women of the Yakṣas.

Bhā. X. 90. 9.

Yakṣinī—a Śakti;¹ an image of; surrounded by the Devas, Dānavas and the Nāgas; hoods and two tongues to be carved above the head; also the spirits of the air and the evil spirits encircle her.²

¹ Br. IV. 20. 15. ² M. 261. 47-50.

Yakṣī—one of the ten pīthas for images with three mekhalas; this gives one plenty of cows.

M. 262. 6, 8, 17.

Yakṣeśvara—is Kubera (s.v.);¹ a follower of Śiva in battle; helped Vāmadeva Śiva in his war with Soma.²

¹ Br. IV. 20. 50. ² M. 23. 38.

Yakṣma—Phthisis which afflicted Soma as a result of Dakṣa's curse.

Bhā. VI. 6. 23.