

Vṛka (III)—a son of Bharuka and father of Bāhuka.

Bhā. IX. 8. 2.

Vṛka (IV)—a son of Devamīḍha and Māriṣā; married Durvārksī and had Takṣa and other sons.

Bhā. IX. 24. 29 and 43.

Vṛka (V)—a son of Vatsaka and Miśrakeśi.

Bhā. IX. 24. 43.

Vṛka (VI)—a son of Kṛṣṇa and Mitravindā.

Bhā. X. 61. 16.

Vṛka (VII)—a son of Śakuni and an Asura; met Nārada who advised him to perform tapas in honour of Śiva. He did so by cutting his own flesh for six days and on the seventh was about to cut off his head when Śiva appeared and blessed that whosoever head he touched that person should die. He attempted it on Śiva who ran to Vaikuṇṭha. Hari in the form of a Brahmacārin asked him to try the boon on himself. The wicked Asura did so and met with his death.

Bhā. X. 88. 13-36.

Vṛka (VIII)—a son of Kṛṣṇa and Satyā (Mādrī-Vi. P.).

Bhā. X. 90. 33; Br. III. 71. 252; Vi. V. 32. 4.

Vṛka (IX)—sonless, adopted Saumi and Kauśika.

Br. II. 71. 192.

Vṛka (X)—a Vānara chief.

Br. III. 7. 242; 51. 11.

Vṛka (XI)—a son of Ruruka and father of Bāhu.

Br. III. 63. 119; Vi. IV. 3. 25-6.