

Lohitārṇa—a son of Ghṛtaprṣṭha.

Bhā. V. 20. 21.

Loheyī—a daughter of Suyāśa.

Vā. 69. 14.

Lauki—a Madhyamādhvaryu.

Br. II. 33. 14.

Laukikas—a class of Manuṣya Pitṛs, as distinguished from Deva Pitṛs; fed in monthly ceremonies; attain this status after duly performing the seven-fold karma;¹ their path cannot be known even by tapas, much less seen with mortal eyes; how they benefit by śrāddha in a wide sense; how those who get no śrāddha suffer.²

¹ Br. II. 28. 69-78. ² Vā. 56. 63-5, 68-79.

Laukikamānam—kāṣṭha, nimeṣa, kalā, muhūrta, ahas, rātri, etc., one 100 Laukika years equal to 3 years of Pitṛs; one year (Laukikamānam) equals one day for Devas.—Uttarāyanam is the day time and Dakṣiṇāyanam the night of gods, 3030 years equal to one Saptarṣi vatsara.

Br. II. 29. 5-17.

Laukikāgni—the first son of Brahmā;¹ father of Brahmodanāgni, well-known as Bharata; also Atharvā.²

¹ Vā. 29. 7. ² Br. II. 12. 7, 9.

Laukiyā—an Apsaras.

Vā. 69. 8.

Laukṣi—a Pravara.

M. 196. 31.