

Maryādas (I)—thousands of mountains on all directions of Merumūla, full of lofty buildings; boundary limits;¹ transgression of, punished.²

¹ Vā. 35. 3; 40. 1; 42. 72. Vā. 101. 157. ² M. 227. 184.

Maryādas (II)—conventions of society for the welfare of the world introduced after those of vārtā; establishment of, by kings; for breaking them, a king goes to hell.

Br. II. 7. 153; 29. 89; 36. 133; IV. 2. 159; M. 225. 10; Vi. I. 6. 32.

Marṣa—another name for Sahasvān.

Vā. 88. 211.

Marṣanas—belonging to the Kauśika gotra.

Br. III. 66. 70; Vā. 91. 98.

Malaka (I)—was the Asura who entered heaven, snatched away the nectar vessel from Dhanvantari: Mohini helped the gods in the scuffle that ensued and Malaka fled to Pātālam.

Br. IV. 9. 38. 10. 2, 23.

Malāka (II)—a commander of Bhaṇḍa.

Br. IV. 21. 85.

Malada—was attacked by Unmattabhairavī.

Br. IV. 28. 40.

Maladas—a Vindhyan tribe; an eastern kingdom.

Br. II. 16. 53 and 63.

Maladā (I)—one of the ten wives of Atri.

Br. III. 8. 75.