

Śatajit (iv)—the Yakṣa presiding over the month of Iṣa.

Bhā. XII. 11. 43.

Śatajit (v)—a son of Rajas; had a hundred sons, all kings and responsible for world's progress;¹ Viṣvagjyoti, the chief among them, held the whole of Bhāratavarṣa with credit and success; his descendants continued to the Vārāha kalpa.²

¹ Br. II. 14. 70-72; Vā. 33. 60; Vi. II. 1. 40. ² Ib. II. 1. 41-3.

Śatajit (vi)—a son of Upavātyaka.

Br. III. 71. 5.

Śatajit (vii)—one of the two sons of Sudevī and Viṣvaksena.

Vā. 96. 242.

Śatajit (viii)—a son of Bhajamāna.

Vi. IV. 13. 2.

Śatatejas—the name of Vyāsa in the 12th dvāpara; avatār of the Lord as Atri.

Vā. 23. 154.

Śatadamṣṭra—a son of Kṣaśā and a Rākṣasa.

Br. III. 7. 135; Vā. 69. 167.

Śatadundubhi (i)—a son of Bāṣkala.

Br. III. 5. 38-9.

Śatadundubhi (ii)—a Vānara chief.

Br. III. 7. 232.