

Dāvika (c)—the country of, (Dārvika—Wilson) under the mlecchas.

Vi. IV. 24. 69.

Dāśapuram—here were born as hunters the seven sons of Kauśika. But they remembered their previous births and refrained from cruel deeds.

M. 20. 12-4; 21. 9 and 28.

Dāśarathi—a name of Rāma, who destroyed Rāvana and his clan.

Vā. 70. 48.

Dāśārṇas—Śatadhvaja (s.v.) was their king; when they heard of Kṛṣṇa going to Mithilā they met him with presents.

Bhā. X. 52. 11 [12]; 86. 25.

Dāśārha—see Daśārhas.

Bhā. XI. 30. 18.

Dāśeyi—the fisher-woman, who took birth as Satyavati and begot Vicitravīrya by Śantanu.

M. 50. 45; Vā. 73. 21; 99. 240.

Dāsa—servants entertained in a śrāddha;<sup>1</sup> appellation of the Śūdras.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> M. 17. 57 and 62; Vā. 60. 37.

<sup>2</sup> Vi. III. 10. 9.

Dāsi (I)—Slaves as present to learned men.

Br. II. 34. 39.