

Mahāmāyā : he invited Śambara to battle and cut off his head; then Māyāvati took him by air to Dvārakā the residence of Rukmiṇi and Kṛṣṇa; in Kṛṣṇa's palace, women found the likeness of Kṛṣṇa in him and Rukmini thought of her lost son; to their wonder and joy Nārada related the life story of Pradyumna; the couple were embraced by all of them and the whole Dvārakā was filled with satisfaction.² Won his wife Rukmāvati (Vaidarbhī) in a Svayamvara after vanquishing his rivals; father of Aniruddha;³ attended his son's marriage at Bhojakata;⁴ picture drawn by Citra-lekha;⁵ one among the Vṛṣṇis who went to attack Bāṇa's city;⁶ fought with Guha;⁷ went along with his brothers to play and seeing a huge lizard in a well reported the same to Kṛṣṇa;⁸ defended Dvārakā with other Yadus when Śālva besieged it; defeated Śālva's commander-in-chief and did other feats of valour; had a hit in the chest by Śālva's minister Dyumat and was taken out by his charioteer, whom he chided for his action; the charioteer defended his action under the ethics of war; attacked and vanquished Dyumat;⁹ went to Syamantapañcaka for the solar eclipse;¹⁰ went with Kṛṣṇa's sacrificial horse;¹¹ unable to recover the dead son of the Dvārakā Brahmana;¹² fought with Sām̐ba at Prabhāsa deluded by Kṛṣṇa;¹³ at his death his wives burnt themselves in fire.

¹ Vi. IV. 15. 37; V. 26. 12 to the end; ch. 27 (whole); 28. 6-7; 32. 1 and 6; Bhā. I. 10. 29; 11. 17; 14. 30; X. 40. 21; 61. 7 and 9; 90. 35; Br. III. 71. 245; 72. 1; IV. 29. 128; Vā. 96. 237. ² Bhā. X. ch. 55 (whole); M. 47. 15, 23; 93. 51; 101; 10; 248. 48. ³ Bhā. X. 61. 18, 22, 23 [8]; 90. 36. Vi. IV. 15. 39. ⁴ Bhā. X. 61. 26. ⁵ Ib. X. 62. 20; Vi. V. 32. 24. ⁶ Bhā. X. 63. 3. ⁷ Ib. X. 63. 7. ⁸ Ib. X. 64. 1-4. ⁹ Ib. X. 76. 13-33. 77. 1-3. ¹⁰ Ib. X. 82. 6. ¹¹ Ib. X. 89. 22. [2]. ¹² Ib. X. 89. 31 and 41; 90. 33. ¹³ Ib. XI. 30. 16. ¹⁴ Ib. X. 31. 20; Vi. V. 33. 12; 37. 46.

Pradyumna (II)—a son of Cākṣuṣa Manu.

Bhā. IV. 13. 16

Pradyumna (III)—a son of Bhānumān.

Br. III. 64. 19; Vā. 89. 19.