

Bhāradvāja (III)—performed śrāddha at Kaśyapapada and found two hands black and white protruding, and feeling a doubt asked his mother who said the black hand was his father; but the white hand contested that he was the Pro-creator; the black said, that he was the owner of kṣetra; Bhāradvāja found her of bad character.

Vā. 111. 58-63.

Bhārabhūti—a tīrtha on the Narmadā, where Lord Virūpākṣa is enshrined; its merits detailed.

M. 194. 18-30.

Bhāram—a measure of weight.

M. 82. 5; 85. 2.

Bhāratākhyānam—the Mahābhārata containing the essence of the Vedas in a lakh of verses.

M. 53. 70.

Bhārukacchas—(of Broach); a tribe.

M. 114. 50.

Bhārundāni (Sāmāni)—to be uttered in founding a new temple.

M. 265. 28.

Bhārga (I)—a son of Vitihotra, and father of Bhārgabhūmi.

Vi. N. 8. 20.

Bhārga (II)—a son of Vanhi and father of Bhānu.

Vi. IV. 16. 3.

Bhārgabhūmi—a son of Bhārga. The line of Kaśya ends with him,¹ did propaganda for the spread of varṇa dharma.²

¹ Bhā. IX. 17. 9-10. ² Vi. IV. 8. 20.